Wrenching back control of our society

I am absolutely incensed at the violence we are continuing to see flourish under the watch of the Brumby Labor Government. The recent report of an unsuspecting passenger travelling on the Lilydale line in the early hours of Sunday morning and allegedly being repeatedly stabbed by teenagers as young as 15 was sickening.

After almost 11 years of State Government neglect we now find ourselves in the unenviable position of having to try and wrench back control of our society from the hands of violent offenders who through a lack of police numbers, have been able to wreak havoc on people who have been minding their own business.

The buck stops with the Brumby State Government. They have had the power, the time and the money to be able to stop the violence. You have to ask yourself, have they succeeded?
